A New Russian Loan--Impetuosity of the Turks at Tzerovna--Total Losses of Russians and Roumanians Before Plevna.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Post's special from St. Petersburg states that the Minister of Finance is preparing to issue a new lottery lean of 5,000,000 roubles to aid them in their war for christianity.

The Times' correspondent with Mehemit Ali indicates that the engagement at Tzerovna was intended as a reconnoisance, but assumed a somewhat more serious character because of the impetuosity of the Turkish troops, who, according to ti is and other accounts, displayed the greatest courage. The centre of the column advanced as far as Verbaka, and after having been ordered four times in vain to retire, had to be led out of the fire by the divisional commander in person, after having stormed the Russian position under a murderous fire.

A special to the Daily News, dated Bucharest, Monday, says the weather for the past two days has been extremely bad. At Frateshti, which is now a sea of mud, hospital accommodation exists for 1,500 wounded, but 7,000 are accumulated there.

General Todleben has started for Russian headquarters. It is believed he will remain there some days for consultation on the general situation, and afterward will be associated with Prince Charles in the command of the army before Plevna.

A Reuter telegram from Bucharest says it is stated that the total losses of the Russians and Roumanians during the recent operations before Plevna exceed 25,000 killed and wounded.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Details of Monday's Fire---Arrival of the Sioux---The Presidential Party to Arrive To-night.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Details of yesterday's fire were imperfect. No important papers involving titles were burned, but they are much scattered, and some of them soaked. The patronage of Mr. Schurz will be greatly enlarged. It is stated in this connection that Mr. Schurz, in an emotional moment, displaced a $2600 officer who had control of pensions and whose duty it was to be watchful of the safety of the building, and devolved his duties on the chief clerk.

The Sioux have arrived but Schurz has not found time to have a preliminary interview with them.

The Presidential party are expected to-night. They propose to visit the tomb of Jefferson at Monticello.

Corner in Wheat Settled.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—The corner in number two winter red wheat September delivery, which commenced on Thursday was amicably adjusted this morning by both parties settling on 1.53 as the price for to-day and two gentlemen were appointed to name a price each day for the balance of the month. Adjustment was brought about by an arbitration committee which was appointed yesterday afternoon by the shorts. The announcement by the committee of settlement was received with pleasure and the committee was repeatedly cheered and unanimously voted the thanks of the corn and flour exchange.

European Mails and Railroad Strikes.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The consequence of the strike on the Southern & Great Western Road is that the Postmaster General orders all Steamers from America to land only Irish mails at Queenstown and bring the others to Liverpool The City of Berlin was the first steamer affected by the new regulations. The strike lasted some time. It is confined to men employed in repairing the road. Night traffic lately stopped.

Kansas Cattle Thieves Come to Grief.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—A private letter from Fort Ellis, Kansas, says, a party of cattle thieves were captured in the extreme north west Kansas. Seven were killed and the others hung. The thieves were surprised while eating supper. Seven hundred head of cattle were recovered.

The Money Stolen From the Courtland Bank.

COURTLAND, N. J. Sept. 25—The following are the U. S. five-twenty $50 bonds stolen from the bank here Saturday, years of which could not be given in last night's dispatches, numbers 25,927 and 28,010 of 1862 and 5,926 of 1867.

Weather in Europe.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Weather fine but measurably cold. Similar weather prevails in various parts of Europe. This is believed to indicate an early and severe winter.

Colored Quarrels.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—Eight colored men quarrelled on corner George and Elm streets. Four wounded, one fatally.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

On Their Winding Way--Talks Along the Route.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, September 25.—Before leaving Lynchburg President Hayes addressed his escort and assembledfellow-citizens. He had expected a hearty greeting, but the popular demonstration had surpassed his expectations. The reception here was fine. Speeches characterized by some improvement in rhetoric and no deterioration in patriotism or length.

It is noticed in reports of these speeches that accompanying journalists show signs of weariness by their omission of brackets, enclosing cheers, laughter, and applause. Mr. Evarts was introduced, who alluding to Charlottesville as the home of Jefferson, said there was no spot in Virginia more attractive to the people of the U. S. than that city, whatever places the citizens of the country may have assigned to the great men of their States, it cannot be denied that Thomas Jefferson was our great leader in the Congress of the wisest and best men of the country. The lead of the Historical roll is to be remembered forever and ever, in the declaration of Independence fell to Virginia in the person of Thos. Jefferson, he lives again in the great University of Virginia.

Mr. Evarts then paid a glowing tribute to this ilstitution. Secretary McKee also made a speech.

The visitors were then taken in carriages to the University of Virginia where some time was spent in inspecting the building, and enjoying the hospitality of the managers of the institution. They were next driven to Monticello the former home of Jefferson, after which they returned to the city and took dinner at the Parish House. The party left at 4 p. m. en route for Washington.

EASTERN AFFAIRS.

Rain Interfering With Military Operations.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A Shumla dispatch to the Evening Standard this afternoon says: "Nothing important has occurred since Friday. The heavy showers yesterday and to-day will delay operations for some days."

North Carolinians in Trouble--Vessel Lost.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—Burfoot and White, hailing from North Carolina, were arrested last week with counterfeit $50 bills in their possession, and held for $5,000.

A private despatch reports the loss of the bark "Cricket," from Brazil hither. One crew lost 7,400 bags of coffee, value $200,000.

Trunks Lost.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Three trunks, containing an aggregate of $10,000 in securities, has disappeared from the safe at Cambridgeport National Bank. No clue. The cashier owned one of the trunks.

Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—For the South Atlantic and Gulf States stationary or lower pressure; stationary temperature; winds mostly from the East, partly cloudy weather, and in the first districts net areas of light rain.

Republican Nomination.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 25,—The Republicans nominated William A. Williams for Governor.

Man Hung.

HARRISONBURG, VA., Sept. 25.—Andrew Shifflet was hung here to-day. Shifflett protested innocence to the last.

Strikers Going to Work.

WILKESBARRE, Sept. 25.—The meeting of 3,000 miners of Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, resolved to go to work.

Home at Last.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The Presidential party arrived here at 8 o'clock.

Suicide of a Clergyman.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Rev. Henry Hersey, aged 81 years, hanged himself at Hingham this afternoon. In July last his house was entered by masked burglars, who inflicted severe injuries upon him, and it is supposed that he had never recovered from the shock.

President Hayes and the Raleigh Fair.

(Petersburg Index-Appeal.)

The propriety of inviting President Hayes to atteud the next annual Fair of the North Carolina Agricultural Society is urged by the Raleigh News. It is a timely suggestion, if we may be permitted to advise our neighbors. We think well of the President's course of visits to the different parts of the country, during the intervals of his application to the severe duties of the Executive office. Gen. Washington set the example during the first term of his service, and did his devoirs to each of the great sections of the country in order, receiving the grateful respects of the people, and everywhere leaving a happy memory and grateful impression. The visits of a Northern President to the Southern States are especially to be commended, in view of the fact that much of the bitterness lately prevailing between the two sections has resulted from mere ignorance, prejudice and mutual misconstruction; only needing better personal acquaintance to remove it in the interests of good will and peace. It was the great blunder of General Grant that he allowed himself to receive all impressions in regard to Southern affairs and the Southern people from outside sources; men who had no claim to represent Southern feeling, and who had every motive to villify the communities in which they lived. Mr. Hayes has followed a wiser and juster course; and his administration has already been attended with the best results. Let him be invited to the Raleigh Fair. He has consented to visit Lynchburg, which shows he is not at all particular as to what invitations he accepts.

Another Good Year for American Farmers.

(Norfolk Landmark.)

The best commentary on the nature and extent of the disasters suffered by the Turks is furnished by the order given to the Servian troops to right about as they were on the march to join the forces of the Czar. They were on the eve of being thrown into the conflict when the Russians were beaten at Plevna, and since then the Great Bear has been so severely handled that Servia has paused in doubt and amazement at the performance. Her troops have been ordered to fall back from the frontier and to deport themselves in a modest and peaceful manner to avoid offending the Sublime Porte. We have no doubt that Roumania wishes she had been as deliberate as her neighbor for her troops have suffered severely by the bull-headed management of the campaign, and the indications are that she has just crossed the Danube at the wrong time. How far Russia can rely on the Roumanians is very doubtful. They are said to make poor soldiers, and the coming winter will inflict hardships which will try the fortitude of the best troops on either side. But throwing this speculation aside, it is plain that Russia has made the common and vulgar error of underrating her enemy, and, as a consequence, she stands beaten and humiliated in her advance towards the Golden Horn. This means short wheat crops in Western Europe, and another good year for American farmers.

Death of Jim Justice.

[From the Western Pioneer.]

A correspondent at Lynn, in Polk county, informs us that James M. Justice, formerly of Rutherford county, but who recently removed to Hendersonville, met with a fatal accident at Columbus, the county seat of Polk, on Monday night. He was attending Superior Court for that county, before which he had several important cases—one of them involving a conflict between the State and Federal authorities. It was noticeable during the afternoon that he was drinking heavily, and at an early hour in the night he walked off the second story balcony of Hill's Hotel, sustaining injuries which rendered him insensible from the time of the accident to his death, which occurred on the 19th.

In addition to the local reputation he sustained as a lawyer, his name became familiar to the people of the State as principal witness or prasecutor of the Kuklux who were tried in Raleigh at the Fall Term of the U. S. Circuit Court, 1871.

* * * * * * * * *

Subsequently Justice was appointed Assistant prosecuting attorney in this Court. He was about 40 years of age, and in early life carried on the wagon making business in the town of Hendersonville.

Rev. James A. Duncan, D. D. Sketch of His Career.

(From Petersburg Index-Appeal.)

Rev. James A. Duncan was born in the city of Norfolk in the year 1829. His father, Prof. David Duncan, at the time of his birth, was at the head of the Norfolk Classical Institute. When the deceased was about six years old, his father removed to Randolph Macon College, near Boydton, in Mecklenburg county, in which he filled the chair of Greek and Latin for many years. Here the young man was raised and educated. He graduated with high honors in this institution in 1849. He embraced religion and entered the membership of the church under the ministry of the Rev. Hezekiah G. Leigh, father of our respected townsman Dr. H. G. Leigh. Feeling called to the work of the ministry soon after his graduation, he was made a licentiate in the ministry, and placed in charge of the Southern Methodist church in Alexandria, Virginia, where his labors were blessed in the conversion of many souls. In November, 1849, he was received into the Virginia Conference as an itinerant preacher of the M. E. Church, and was placed in charge of the church in Fairfax county. At the expiration of his pastorate in Fairfax, he was sent to the church in Hampshire county. From this point he went to the church at Leesburg, in Loudoun county, then to Washington city, then again to Alexandria and then to Trinity church in Richmond. The rapid increase of the congregation here rendered it necessary to build another church—Broad street—of which he became the pastor. At the expiration of the pastorate of the Broad street church, he was elected editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate. He wielded the pen with as much ability as he preached the Word. During the period of his editorship, he was eminently useful as a minister—preaching to the army and in the hospitals around and in Richmond. It is known that President Davis and members of his cabinet were very partial to Dr. Duncan, and often went to hear him preach in Richmond. Mr. Davis informed him of the intended evacuation of Richmond, and invited him to accompany himself and cabinet when they left that city. Dr. Duncan consented to do this, and went out in the same car with them.

Dr. Duncan afterwards went through the South, preaching as he had opportunity in the several States, until the fall of 1865, when he returned to Richmond and again assumed pastoral charge of the Broad street church. He remained there until the expiration of his term, when he was sent to the Washington street church in this city. He remained here until the fall of 1868, when he was elected president of Randolph Macon College. He discharged the duties of that responsible position up to the time of his death. How faithfully he labored for the success of that college, how deep an interest he took in the education of the young, how earnestly he devoted his time and his talents to these objects, are facts well-known. He was President of the college for nine years, during which time the institution greatly flourished.

The disease of which Dr. Duncan died, is supposed to have had its origin in malarial fever, contracted while attending a series of camp meetings in the Moorefield District of the Baltimore conference, several years ago. He partially recovered, and his friends had good hope that his life would be spared for many years, but these expectations have been sadly disappointed. Two weeks ago, the poison which had been lurking in his blood developed itself in an abscess in the region of the ear and throat, which discharged freely; but serious fears were not apprehended until erysipelas appeared, which attacked the brain, causing death in a few hours. His death was eminently peaceful, and he passed away in the full hope of a perfect salvation through Christ.

The venerable Prof. David Duncan, now eighty-four years of age, was with his son during his illness, and at his bedside when he died.

Dr. Duncan was in the 48th year of his age, and had been in the ministry for nearly thirty years. He was twice married—first to Miss Twitty, of North Carolina, by whom he leaves four children; and second to Miss Wade, of West Virginia, who survives him, and by whom he leaves one child.

SENATOR THURMAN HEARD FROM.

Tilden Legally Elected--The President's Policy—Administration of the Treasury Department.

The following is a short synopsis of Senator Thurman's speech at Marion, O., on the 22d inst.:

A large audience of respresentative Democrats and many Republicans were in attendance. Senator Thurman spoke two hours. His remarks covered the question, first, relative to the disputed Presidential election. Mr. Thurman claimed the fair and undoubted election of Samuel J. Tilden to the Presidency; that the count by the Returning Board of Louisiana and of Florida was fraudulent, and the methous by which the final results arrived at in these states were clearly illegal under the law which created the Returning Boards, to say nothing of the unconstitutionality of the act itself. He claimed that the Electoral Commission, in refusing to hear evidence of want of jurisdiction in the returns of Florida and Louisiana, were clearly in error. He warned the people of the dangers of closely-contested elections if such proceedings did not receive their severe and immediate condemnation. Second, Senator Thurman claimed that the policy of President Hayes was precisely that which he [Thurman] had contested for during the past 10 years. He contrasted this policy with the speeches of Republican partisans last year and drew the conclusion that the Democracy were right, as the result in the South had proved. Third, he showed the necessity of reform in the administration of Hon. John Sherman; in evidence showing by his speech that an array of useless relatives had fed upon the government for years, drawing pay for no services whatever, to the amount of nearly $2,000,000, in a portion of the Customs service and the Treasury Department, and claimed that this indicated extravagance in all the departments of the Government, and that reform in the fullest sense of the word could only be secured by a complete change of administration and in all the departments and subordinate positions, by placing men who had no interest in concealing and covering up the wrong doing of the past.

In reference to the depression of business, and the want of employment of labor, the Senator said that without referring to the destruction of property in the civil war and the peculiar circumstances to which the war gave rise, there were three great causes that deserved notice: first, the effect of improved labor-saving machinery; second, of exhorbitant taxation; third, of the appreciation in the value of the currency, that is, in the purchasing power of the dollar. He spoke at some length of the effect of each of these causes, and in reference to the last said that however desirable a return to a sound basis for our currency might be, it could not be denied that it was a severe operation upon people or Governments in debt; that experience showed that we were reaching the specie basis as fast as a just regard to the interests of the country would permit, and that to force resumption was neither just or politic. He feared that forced resumption could not be maintained, but thought that without arbitrary measures resumption would take place in a comparatively short time, and would be maintained. He explained the acts of Congress demonetizing silver, and advocated remonetizing the dollar of the fathers as an act of simple justice as well as of good policy.

Two "Poor Lo's" for the Penitentiary.

[Cherokee Herald.]

Graham Superior Court was enlivened by the appearance of two of the aborigines of the county (Cherokee Indians) at the bar of the court, charged with appropriating other people's property to their use without compensation. It might be inferred that the Indian not being well versed in the ways of the white man was only keeping up a custom of long standing among them that all property was held in common, but the white man could not see it that way and insisted that the case must be disposed of according to white man's usage. The first one put on trial was Willoukee, indicted for the larceny of one Ammon's sawgnilla (horse) and after a patient investigation and exhaustive argument of counsel, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, when Aahtah-yoh-he-tee-goo-yat-stee-ken or sentence passer, (Judge) thought the public good required that Willoukee serve a term of five years in Oo-tun-nol-setoh-stoo-te yeh or big jail house (Penitentiary.)

Esiah Colonechastee was then put on trial for appropriating Mrs Katy Devaughn's bridle buttons, and a deck or two of cards. It came out in evidence however that the cards stolen was a euchre deck, with register attached. His Honor's little explanation of a euchre deck and register in his charge to the jury was entirely satisfactory. The result was that Esiah got euchred, and was sent to the big jail house for three years.

Official Corruption.

(Newbernian.)

The true province of the press is to jealously guard the rights of the people. It should stand as a sentinel on the watch-tower, never slumbering, never sleeping, but with its argus eyes open, ever ready to detect a wrong and to ring out the alarum when popular rights are imperiled. When our confidence is misplaced and the trust reposed in our servants is betrayed, then it behooves the press to sound the tocsin, that the people may be warned of the threatened danger, and take prompt and swift measures to avert or arrest the dire evil. Ever since the war of the States the battle cry of the Democratic party has been Retrenchment and Reform, coupled with strict honesty in our officials. War unrelenting has been waged against our political opponents, not so much on account of their arraying race against race—and this was bad enough—but on account of the reckless extravagance of the government and the questionable honesty of their officials. Honesty, pure and undefiled was our watchword and countersign, and with this promised the people, we buckled on our armor and went to do battle. Victory perched upon our banners. How have we fulfilled our trust? We find in Pitt county an abscondiug sheriff, and Raleigh, the capital of State—the Mecca to which we should turn—for the first time since 1868, has passed from the hands of the Radicals into those of the Democratic party, and what do we see?

* * * * * * *

We care nothing for their social position; our motto is "principles before men." Democratic officials must be like Cæsar's wife, above suspicion. We have promised the people an honest administration of affairs and we must see to it, that these promises shall not amount to empty nothings, but must be stern realities. We cannot afford to have our political character smirched by even a semblance of dishonesty. Our future is too bright with promise to have it overcast with such a black, forbidding cloud. Our sun shines too gloriously in the political skies to have it go down in disgrace and disaster. We have fought the good fight too long, and too well, to now have the hard earned fruits of our labors thus ruthlessly wrested from us. Dishonest officials, wherever found, must be harried down and driven out of the party; the door must be shut upon them henceforth and forever.

Senator Bayard on Hayes' Policy.

Senator Bayard, of Delaware, who has been frequently denominated the statesman sans peur et sans reproache, while in Richmond recently, as one of the counsel in the Washington & Ohio Railroad case, is quoted as having said, in a public interview in answer to the question of what he thought of the Southern policy of President Hayes:

"I thank God for it. He has disposed of the only obstacle that stood between the suffering South and the full enjoyment of her constitutional liberties. He has not only carried out the Democratic policy but he has carried the Republicans with him. I think he has the cordial support of fully seventy-five per cent. of his party. Many who were doubtful at first now see that the time was ripe for the full restoration of every Southern State to self-government under the Constitution. The history of the States since the troops were removed is one of the very best arguments why Republicans and Democrats should approve of Mr. Haye's policy on this subject.

Kentuckians and Henry Clay.

(Indianapolis Journal.)

The allusions to Henry Clay made by the President and other speakers at Louisville, eliciting wild applause from the crowd, show how strong a hold that remarkable man had on the affections of the people. It is doubtful if any other American statesman has ever been regarded by his followers with such enthusiastic admiration, or has ever held them by such close personal ties as the great Kentucky commoner. The memories of Washington and Lincoln are indeed more generally revered, but they were exceptional cases. Clay was essentially a partisan leader, and an unsuccessful one at that; yet the men who followed his banner still regard those days as the proudest of their political lives, and their hearts still warm and their eyes fill with tears as they recall the gallant leadership of Harry of the West. His personal magnetism was a source of great power to him, and contributed in no small degree to the influence by which he impressed himself and his ideas on American politics. Its lasting quality is shown by the enthusiasm which even now the mention of his name evokes in a Kentucky audience, and for that matter we are not sure but the same is true of other States as well.

Judge Strong.

(Wilson Advance.)

The act of Judge Strong, in receiving pay as Judge, from the date of his election in March instead of May, the day he qualified as Judge, is being severely censured by some of the papers of the State. We have no idea that Judge Strong had any corrupt motive in receiving this money—in fact he may have been justifiable, strictly speaking in law, in doing so; still we think it was unfortunate, if not wrong, as the services for which he drew pay had not been actually rendered for that time. The very doubt existing on his mind, and which caused him to consult others as to his right to draw money, should have restrained him from receiving it, notwithstanding the opinion of the Attorney General and others in favor of his claim. In matters of this kind, where there are doubts, either as to the propriety or legality of the act, it is always best to be on the safe side.

McClellan for President in 1880.

[From the New York Sun.]

Gen. McClellan will no doubt be elected by a rousing majority. He will be Governor of New Jersey. It is not a great State, but the place has its full share of responsibilities and opportunities of action. If, more decided, more wise and more fortunate than on previous occasions, Gen. McClellan should prove himself to be fully up to this new situation, there is no demand which his ambition can make upon the future that may not be completely answered.

What Every Body Says Must be True.

The incontrovertible testimony offered by those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription induced the doctor to sell it under a positive guarantee. Many ladies have refrained from using it on account of a general feeling of prejudice against advertised medicines. Let me ask a question. Are you prejudiced against sewing machines because you have seen them advertised? or can you doubt the skill and ingenuity required in their invention? Again, would you refuse to insure your house because the company advertised that it had paid millions in losses, and yet had a capital of several millions? Do such advertisements shake your confidence, and create prejudices? Then why refuse to credit the testimony of those who have found the Favorite Prescription to be all that is claimed for it in overcoming those ailments peculiar to your sex? Why submit to the use of harsh, and perhaps caustic treatment, thus aggravating your malady, when relief is guaranteed, and a positive, perfect, and permanent cure has been effected in thousands of cases?

WABASH STATION, ILL., Oct. 24, 1876.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffolo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Allow me to extend my most sincere thanks to you for the great benefit my wife has received from the use of your Favorite Prescription. She suffered almost intolerably before using your medicine, and I had tried the skill of several physicians but to no purpose. Finally, I thought I would give the Favorite Prescription a trial, and she is now sound and well.

Very gratefully yours,

D. A. HUNTER.

The "Lost Art" Recoveerd.

Galen, the most celebrated physician, flourished in the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His cures were so marvelous that he was accusen of magic. His mighty skill and success silenced his enemies, and his opinions held sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of Vegetine, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood purifier and health-restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

A Hopeless Sufferer Cured by VEGETINE

NOANK, CONN., Nov. 11, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq:—

Dear Sir: Thinking that a statement of my case may meet the eye of some one suffering from Scrofula, I beg you to publish the following, which I cheerfully furnish of my own free will.

I have been afflicted with Scrofulous Humor from my birth, and at times very badly. When about six years old the disease made its appearance on my head, and it was deemed advisable to have the hair shaved, but they were obliged to cut it off with embroidery scissors, as my head was so sore I could not have it shaved. After we had succeeded in healing the sores on the outside, they broke, but on the inside, causing me great pain. There have been times when the surface of my hands was all raw from the effect of this humor, and no pen can describe the great suffering I have endured.

About three years ago small kernels made their appearance on the chords of my neck, several of which grew into quite large tumors, and nothing which we could use would remove them. My whole system was so full of scrofulous humor that it seemed ready to burst through the skin in all parts of my body, and I was in a terrible weak and feeble condition. The tumors on my neck had grown to such a size as to disfigure me badly. When in this hopeless condition I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetine, and I at once commenced taking it, and after I had used a short time the tumors commenced discharging, and I do not think I overestimate the quantity from each tumor when I say that a good-sized teacupful of corruption ran out, after which they commenced to heal up and disappear, and now my neck is as smooth and free from bunches as any lady's.

I believe the Vegetine has entirely cleansed every taint of scrofula from my system, and I desire to have this statement published, so that other sufferers may find relief, as they surely will do, if they try the Vegetine.

It will afford me pleasure to give any further information relative to my case to all who will call or address me.

ALICE SHIRLEY.

VEGETINE.

Unsolicited Evidence.

SPRING FIELD, ME., Mai4, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir: My daughter has been out of health for about two years. About a year ago she had a tumor come on her side which was very painful.

I saw Vegetine advertised in the Farmer, and sent to Bangor and got two bottles. She is now taking the second bottle; her health is much improved, and the tumor is going away as fast as it came. Every one in this vicinity knows what Vegetine has done for my daughter, and I take every opportunity to recommend it to those who are not aware of its great value.

Very respectfully,

MRS. SUSAN C. RANDALL.

Every One Speaks Favorably.

EAST MARSHFIELD, Mass., Aug. 31, 1870.

MR. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir: I have been troub ed with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I tried your Vegetine. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanies Canker humor; and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effect. Yours truly,

P. S. SHERMAN.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

The Moffitt Registers were placed in the Norfolk bar rooms on Monday.

The yellow fever at Fernandina unfortunately shows no sign of abatement.

One Southern paper takes ground against Randall for Speaker. It is the Savannah News, which declares in favor of Cox.

Among the candidates for doorkeeper of the House of Representatives, is Mr. Payne, son of Bishop Payne (Methodist Episcopal) of Georgia.

The Colonization Board of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union for the coming year will consist of Rev. Ambrose A. Butler, Missouri; M. Glennan, Virginia; W. O'Mulcahy, Minnesota; T. P. Hannon, Pennsylvania; P. J. Donahue, District of Columbia.

Lieutenant S. C. Barney, of Maryland, an old naval officer, who was summarily dropped from the list in 1863, is to be reinstated and retired as a Rear Admiral, with pay, amounting to over $35,000. He was suspended, it is said, on a false representation maliciously made to Secretary Welles.

Norfolk (Va.) Landmark: We advise our cotton growing friends to make their plantations self-sustaining. They should raise their own meat and bread, and after they have provided subsistance look after their cotton. This, however, is certain that the price of cotton now and in the immediate future will not justify its production without due regard to the bread and bacon.

STATE NEWS.

The Graded school project is receiving fresh encouragement in Goldsboro.

A new paper, to be called the Greenville Express, is shortly to be published in Greenville, N. C.

Diphtheria is prevailing to an alarming extent in Dr. Luckey's practice in Prospect Church neighborhood in Rowan county.

The adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, takes place on to-morrow (Thursday) in Newbern, when the combination question will be acted on.

Goldsboro Messenger: A number of our Jewish fellow-citizens are making an effort to build a Synagogue in Goldsboro. We hope they may be successful in the undertaking. They are certainly strong enough in this community to insure quite a large congregation.

The first term of Wayne Inferior Court, says the Messenger, convenes today. Of nineteen bills to be sent before the grand jury by Solicitor Dortch this morning eighteen are for larceny, and most all are jail cases. It is thought the court will hold to Thursday.

Capt. Davis has just received an order, says the Southern Home, from Lieut. Col. Taylor, commander of the 2nd batalion, authorizing him to appoint from his company a quarter-master of the batalion with the rank of Captain and in compliance with this order, Capt. Davis has named Mr. J. G. Shannonhouse for the position.

Goldsboro Messenger: At a meeting of the Directors of the Atlantic Railroad, Capt. John A. Richardson, the always courteous, popular and efficient Conductor, was re-elected by a unanimous vote. Capt. John possesses all the characteristics of a good conductor, and we are glad to hear of his re-election under such complimentary auspices.

A North Carolina attorney took his fee in grapes. It was all the client had. Of course the lawyer took it.—New York Times. Yes, it was a Charlotte lawyer at that. They are about as sharp a set of men as you can find anywhere except in New York and Philadelphia. In those cities the lawyers would not only have taken all the poor man's grapes, but the bag or basket he carried them in besides. Probably, however, our Charlotte lawyer did not think of that.—Southern Home.

Southern Home: Alexander is a great name in the Mecklenburg Riflemen; there are only seven of that name who belong to the company and three of the number bear the given name of Frank. All of these live in and near the Sugar Creek neighborhood in Mallard Creek Township. There are a dozen townships, more or less, yet to hear from. The Alexander name has been a strong one in Mecklenburg, not only as far back as the oldest inhabitants remember, but even as far back as history itself relates.

Western Pioneer: William C. McCarthy, late Agent for the Eastern Band, or North Carolina Cherokee Indians, was arrested on the 20th inst., by Deputy Marshal T. K. Davis, upon a charge of embezzlement. McCarthy had a hearing yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Cushman, of this place, who held the accused to bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the November term of the U. S. Court. The evidence showed a balance due to the United States of $6,700.

A Buncombite on a visit to Marshall, in Madison county, last week, writes from there to the Pioneer concerning that county as follows:

"The energy of the people, and the productive capacity of the soil of this little county is attracting attention. If our farmers do not exert themselves, it will shortly outstrip her more pretentious sisters and become the richest county in the West. It is nothing unusual to be accosted in the streets of Marshall by a one-suspender chap, and asked to cash a $100 check. Several handsome residences have been erected in the village recently, and everywhere around we saw evidences of thrift. Heard no one complaining of hard times.

COMING OF THE TRAMP.

The South is threatened with an inroad of tramps, who seek a winter climate less severe than that of the Middle States. Already bands of them have crossed the Potomac and moved down on Virginia. We have chronicled their first outrages—the recent attack on the pay train of the Virginia Midland railroad, and the attempt to rob one of the depots of the same company. These, or others like them, had already visited Maryland and Delaware. Whether any considerable number of these vagrants can cross the State of Virginia and enter North Carolina is yet problematical. Certainly, the Virginians have realized the necessity of promptly abating the nuisance. They show a determined purpose to take the tramp in hand at once, and suppress him. If they succeed our State will be saved from his insolence and depredations.

But to be on the safe side, the authorities of the border counties should keep a sharp lookout for evil disposed tramps, and apply the law to them with a promptness and severity that will deter others from invading our territory. For the tramp simply as an unemployed, homeless man, we have none other than feelings of kindness; and for all such we invoke the exercise of charity. Many there are, no doubt, who come South with honest intentions, and if they wander about the country "aimless, hopeless and homeless," it is because they can't find employment. This kind of tramp has no evil designs, and does no harm. But there are those who have no redeeming features, are vicious by nature and criminals from habit; who are enemies of society, robbers, thieves and rapists. Against these the laws should be enforced with the utmost rigor, whenever and wherever they show their heads.

NO IMMIGRANTS FROM BALTIMORE.

We may as well give up all hope of getting any considerable amount of emigration from Baltimore. Strenous opposition is being made there to the efforts of the Baltimore Emigration Society. The workingmen, who show a disposition to come to this State, are pelted with the enquiry: "Why go to North Carolina, when within the sound of the bells of Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis tracts of land are open for purchase and settlement that are as desirable for homes as any lands in North Carolina? If the mechanics of Baltimore wish to secure country homes near good markets, near the large cities, and as much like Maryland as possible, why not take Maryland itself?"

Land, it is asserted, can be purchased at prices not much above our North Carolina lands, and equal if not superior in fertility, within a few hours of Baltimore by railroad or steamboat communication. The workingmen are appealed to to fill up their own State; and to consider the resources and advantages which are right at hand; and to "look at their own State first before going either to Kansas, Texas or North Carolina." We will have to look elsewhere than the "Monumental City" for men to fill up our idle lands.

GENERAL BUTLER intends, it is said, to introduce a bill into the next Congress for the purpose of increasing the army. The plan outlined includes the idea of inserting a clause in favor of restoring to their regular positions in the army the old officers who entered the Confederate service. Butler's motive in this clause, of course, is to secure the support of the Southern members. The South will hardly be caught with such chaff as this. We would like to see the old U. S. army officers restored to their original positions in the line. The South is entitled to a share in the offices of the army. But we would not have this advantage regained at the price of an increase of the Federal army.

THE whole taxable property of the United States, by the census of 1870, was set down at $14,178,000,000, and in that year the total taxes levied for national, State, county and city purposes amounted to $676,550,000. Of this amount, $395,959,000 went into the coffers of the Federal Exchequer, or nearly $11 for each of the thirty-six millions of inhabitants of the Republic.

A National Convention of colored men meets in Washington to-day.

The Russian Imperial Guard.

[Courier-Journal.]

The hopes of the Russians now center upon the arrival of the Imperial Guard. The dispatches indicate Muscovite despondency over the evidently depressing situation. With the arrival of the Imperial Guard in Bulgaria, the army will be increased to the extent of 77,097 men of all ranks and arms, with a strength of 49,120 bayonets, 7,497 sabres, 144 field pieces, and 86 horse-artillery guns. This force will about fill up the gaps made by the disasters to the Russian arms during the last fatal month. The Czarewitch commands the Guard, with Lieutenant General Count Voronzoff-Dagkoff as Chief-of-Staff. The commander of the First division of infantry is Lieutenant General Grand Duke Vladimir Alexandrovich; of the Second division, Lieutenant General Tjerkoff; of the Third division, Lieutenant General Katalei; of the brigade of rifles, Major General Ellis; of the First division of cavalry, Lieutenant General Count Mussin Pujkin, and of the Second division of cavalry, Lieutenant General Gourkho. There is evidently too much Grand Duke attached to this important command, and probably the best service will be performed by General Gourkho, who has somewhat distinguished himself by his dash over the Balkans, although that was a very rash proceeding, as the movement was unsupported, like that of Shackosky at Plevna. It appears that it is the intention of the Russian military authorities to hurl this splendid new army on the sulphurous semicircle about Plevna, and the only thing which will save it from destruction will be a scant supply of Turkish powder and ball. The only recent movement of the Russians which shows a realization of the demands of the situation is the sending of three cavalry brigades to cut Osman Pasha's communications on the Sofia road, a proceeding which should have been inaugurated as soon as the first Russian Cavalry touched Bulgarian soil. There is no discounting the valor of Russian soldiers, but they sadly need skilled officers to direct their movements and save them from butchery.

Last Sunday, Rabbi Gottheil, of New York, preached a sermon in which he declared that the prejudice of Iseralites against being called Jews had nothing to rest upon, and that the name of Jew is one which any person might be glad to bear. Many person unacquainted with this prejudice of the Israelites are much astonished when they learn of it, and cannot understand why it should exist.

Mortality Among the Colored Race.

(Baltimore Sun.)

The colored people of North Carolina have lately called a State convention to meet on the 18th of October, at Raleigh, the object of which, as set forth in the call, is to consider the educational, material and moral condition of the race, and to devise some plan for its advancement. It is believed that the convention will bring together some of the most intelligent men of North Carolina, and, such being the case, it is to be hoped they will avoid political discussion and devise some means whereby the objects set forth in their call can be promoted. It is certain that the white people will sympathize with them in those objects, for the whole Southern community is directly concerned, and the rest of the country indirectly, in their success. One of the principal subjects to be considered is to devise some method by which to decrease the death rate among the colored people of the South. The rate of mortality among them is startling, and demands the attention of the thinking men of the country. Statistics are given from various parts of the South which show that the average of deaths among the blacks is three or four times as great as among the whites. In Richmond, Virginia, the average of deaths among colored people is fully twice as great as among the whites. During the week ending August 28 fourteen white persons died there and twenty-five colored. The official report of the corresponding week last year shows that the total number of deaths among the whites was only eleven, while of the colored population twenty-eight persons died. The official mortuary reports of Memphis Tennessee, show that during the year 1876 there were 652 deaths among the white population and 601 among the colored, or in other words, considering the proportion of white and colored inhabitants, the death rate among the colored was nearly four times as great as among the whites. During the months of July and August of this year the official reports show that more than five colored persons died to one white. This is not an isolated case. The mortuary reports of Charleston, New Orleans, Savannah, Augusta, Atlanta and Mobile all indicate that the colored people have fallen into modes of life disastrous both to their physical and moral condition. It would be interesting to know what is the proportion of deaths among black children as compared with white, but no statistics on this head are given, though it is reasonable to infer that the children, being subjected to the same physical conditions as the parents, must share their fate. The causes of the large death rate are said to be obvious in the neglect of their offspring among the colored population, in the abandonment of the sick to their own resources, and the indulgence of animal passions to excess. The sudden transition from slavery to freedom was followed among the colored people of the Southern States, as it has been among all populations hurried from one of these extremes to another, by extravagant and dissolute habits, which unless they are checked threaten to undermine their existence as a race.

Under the old slavery system the blacks were restrained from practices and habits which would injure their health and welfare. It is said that this was done simply because of the property interest in them, and because they were regarded as so many valuable animals. Without stopping to discuss this question or referring to the acknowledged fact that before the war a larger number of colored persons in the Southern States had become church members than all the heathens who have been converted by all the Protestant churches in all the nations of the earth, it is sufficient to say that, whatever the motive, the fact is that the physical condition of the blacks before emancipation was as good as that of the whites. This is no argument against emancipation, but it is to be regretted that when multitudes of men and women were suddenly thrown upon their own resources something was not done to teach them the simplest laws of health, and to enable them to take some care of themselves. It is not too late, however, to remedy this evil. The colored people of the South, abrupt as their emancipation was, have in general shown a degree of industry and thrift altogether unprecedented in the history of their race. Their labor is essential to the development of the most valuable products of the country, and for that reason, if not from the higher motives of humanity and benevolence, it becomes men of all parties and all sections to give attention to the frightful increase of mortality among the colored race, and see whether some means cannot be devised by which the death rate among them can be decreased.

Platform of the New Jersey Democrats, Adopted September 19, 1877.

First. The Democracy of the State of New Jersey, in convention assembled, reaffirm the principles contained in the National Democratic platform, adopted at St. Louis in 1876. We denounce the frauds and crimes by which our candidates for President and Vice-President are prevented from occupying the position to which they were chosen by a decided majority of the popular and electoral vote.

Second. We congratulate the supporters of free government throughout the United States on the fact that even the man who was placed in the Presidential chair by means of these frauds and crimes has found it necessary, in order to receive the respect and support of any portion of the American people, to adopt the Democratic policy of local self-government in the Southern States, and to abandon all further devices to perpetuate sectional jealousies.

Third. The Democratic party, embracing within its ranks all classes of our citizens, the most of whom are workingmen, believe that all legislation should have for its object the greatest good to the greatest number. We oppose all special legislation for corporate or individual interests at the expense of the people. We recognize the needs and sympathize with the workingmen of the State in the prevalent distress. We advise the enactment of such legislation as will enable us to collect statistical information relating to the interests of labor and capital with a view to harmonize these interests, and place our industries upon a more permanent and scientific basis.

Fourth. That honest toil and legitimate business are the true basis of a nation's prosperity; that official salaries ought never to be so high as to be sought after for mere pecuniary gains; that salaries, fees and costs have during the past years of Republican legislation been so largely increased as to become absolutely burthensome to the people; that the times demand and the necessities of the people require a radical reduction of all salaries, fees and costs.

Fifth. The usury laws should be revised and reformed, and six per cent. should be restored as the uniform legal rate of interest of the State, without impairing the obligation of contracts.

Dueling.

(Charlotte Democrat.)

Why will newspapers continue to dignify and try to make respectable the cowardly practice of dueling? Baltimore papers and telegraphic dispatches have recently been heralding stuff about two men who tried to fight a duel near Baltimore, which, as usual, ended in 'correspondence.' It is a sign of neither bravery or honor to agree to fight a duel. A gentleman who receives a challenge to fight a duel should tear it up and spit on it in the presence of the man who brought it.

The convicts working on the Georgia and North Carolina Railroad in Cherokee county, have regular preaching by the ministers in the vicinity.

Gov. Colquitt's Welcome to Hayes.

The Presidential party arrived at Atlanta on the 22d at 7:30 o'clock a. m. and made their headquarters at the Markham House. After breakfast the party were driven over the city. At 10 o'clock, on a stand in front of the Markham House, in the presence of 10,000 people, Mayor Angier welcomed the President for the city of Atlanta, and Governor Colquitt for the people of the State of Georgia, in the following words:

MR. PRESIDENT: In behalf of the people of Georgia I bid you and your companions a cordial welcome. (Applause.) Under any circumstances the hospitality of which we trust Georgians may justly boast would make the President of the United States cordially welcome upon our soil. (Great cheering.) But you, sir, come into our midst not as a President only. The great interests over which you preside, the stupendous power which you wield as Chief Magistrate, the dignity with which your name is invested by that power, these are not the sole ideas which move us in this greeting to-day—(applause)—but most prominent in our minds, higher, greater than every other distinction, is the character which you illustrate—(applause)—as a peacemaker between brethren estranged. (Immense cheering.) It is enough to fill the measure of the loftiest ambition to remove fear and suspense from the hearts of 12,000,000 of people, your fellow-citizens—(great cheering)—and restore to them a sense of repose and security under your Administration. (Applause.) If the agencies which brought together 40,000,000 of people in a fearful and unhappy conflict excited the attention of the whole world, the moral purpose, the firm will of the fortunate magistrate who is first to control and calm the spirit which raised this mighty conflict will attract the admiration and plaudits of all men wherever good will among men is known. (Great applause.) How strange, how passing strange, that men, brethren of the same political heritage, can differ or doubt as to the beneficent effects of so holy an undertaking. (Applause.) We invite you, Mr. President, to the closest scrutiny. We are not mistaken; we do not deceive ourselves and and we do not intend to deceive others. When we say we are for peace and union we mean good government; we mean to give a helping hand to any and to all who shall aid in the establishment of constitutional government and in the restoration of fraternity between the states. The great moving cause of these hearty demonstrations which have greeted you since you reached Southern soil is to be found in the generous confidence with which you believe what we say, and your magnanimous trust, which will not exact cringing and servile guarantees. (Applause.) Differ though we may in party, without thinking of the complications of the past or caring for them, we can assure you of the sympathy and support of this good old commonwealth in your every effort to restore peace and good-will between citizens, people and States. In this spirit and in the name of this people I welcome you and your noble wife—(applause)—and these gentle ladies and honored gentlemen to the hospitality of the people of Georgia. (Great applause.)

Frightful Condition of Bulgaria.

LONDON, September 22.—The pitiful stories of the condition of the Christian population south of the Balkans are beginning to create uneasiness and indignation in Europe. The despatch of Ahmend Tefik to Adrianople at the instance of Minister Layard has not had the effect of putting a stop to the executions. The Italian consuls are sending to their Government fearful accounts of the doings of Ottoman officials. They say executions and transportations are depopulating Roumelia. The Italian Consul at Tripoli says that 2,000 Bulgarians have landed at Tripoli from a Turkish transport, and have been sent to the borders of the desert in the interior. A correspondent of the Times, engaged on one of the relief agencies at work among the Bulgarians, sends a hideous account of the state of the province. He is at present established at Carlova, on the southern slope of the Balkans, twenty miles west of Kazanlik. In this place, the population of which he estimates must have been nearly twenty thousand, there is not a grown man left alive. For six weeks the place has been at the mercy of irregulars of the Turkish army. There now remain among the ruins of what was once a beautiful and thriving town but five or six thousand women and children. These poor creatures hide themselves as best they may, dreading the outrages of which nightly some of them are victims. They can hardly be said to have shelter, clothing or food, and have sustained life by gathering roots and vegetables left in the ruined gardens.

The Thunderer on Hayes' Policy.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Times, editorially commenting on President Hayes' Southern tour, says: "In little more than half a year, the President has succeeded in beating down a compact mass of conflicting passions. The visible triumph of his policy is now being assured. He has this week begun a journey through the Southern States, which is intended to show that the work of pacification is not far from completion. The Federal government has no intention of interfering in the local administration of the Southern States. The Southern States have no desire to disturb the great achievments of the civil war, which have been embodied in the constitutional amendments. The removal of the objects of contention makes it easy to re-establish friendly relations between the people, who respect each other; and the sympathetic meeting of the President and Governor Hampton is an omen of the coming time when the North and South will no longer be separated by the lines of division which the civil war had traced."

THE Republicans of this State are a despondent set. They don't seem to care whether school keeps or not.

WANTED

AT CARY, NORTH CAROLINA,

A few enterprising, energetic men, with some capital to help build up one of the best manufacturing and trading towns in the State. We have two Railroads, making it a competing point for both Northern and Southern shipping, giving a great advantage over other points on the line of either Railroad. Anticipating the growth and business of the place I have made some very handsome improvements which I will sell very cheap, and on long time to enterprising parties. From 6,000 to 10,000 bales of cotton may be handled in trade every year.

No. 1 is a three-story brick building with tin roof, 40x120 ft; two large store rooms on first story. The two upper floors are well suited for a large Tobacco Factory; situated in 100 feet of the Chatham Depot.

No. 2 is a new three-story brick hotel, mansard roof with 15 rooms. Dining room 24x36; all elegantly finished. Situated in 200 feet of both railroads. Will rent or sell.

No. 3 is a commodious dwelling with 11 rooms, four of which are 20x20 feet; has a large cellar, a lawn of 1½ acres nicely shaded and set in grass, two large barns, two clover lots, orchard of nice fruits, vines and strawberries, containing 40 acres of well-improved land under a new plank fence.

No. 4 is a plot of 100 acres under a plank fence, lying on the N. C. R. R., for ½ mile, on which land is two elegant building sites.

No. 5 and 6 are situated in a beautiful grove of native forest trees, each with 7 rooms, smoke house, &c., and are very desirable residences; in 150 feet of the Chatham Railroad.

No. 7 is an elegant residence of 9 rooms on a beautiful wide street, 400 yards from the Railroad and near the academy. Lot may contain two, ten or twenty-five acres.

No. 8 is a comfortable cottage of 5 rooms adjoining the above lot, fronts same street, is on a nice lot of two acres. Large barn &c.

No. 9, 10, 11 and 12, are comfortable 2 room cottages on one acre lots, situated between the two R. Rs.

Any persons wanting houses in a healthy railroad village, where a nice paying business can be built up, would do well to come and see for themselves. If you like you can get any sort of thing you desire.

DRUGS.

DR TUTT'S PILLS

Meet the wants of those who need a safe and reliable medicine. The immense demand which has so rapidly followed their introduction is evidence that they do supply this want, and proves them to be ever furnished the American people. The highest medical authorities concede their superiority over all others, because they possess alterative, tonic, and healing properties contained in no other medicine. Being strongly Anti-Bilious, they expel all humors, correct a vitiated state of the system, and, being purely vegetable, they do not, like other pills, leave the stomach and bowels in a worse condition than they found them, but, on the contrary, impart a healthy tone and vigor before unknown.

OUR WORDS INDORSED

Dr. C. L. MITCHELL, Ft. Meade, Fla., says: . . . . "I know the superiority of your pills, and want to see them used instead of the worthless compounds sold in this country." . . . .

Rev. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky., says: . . . "Tutt's pills are worth their weight in gold." . . . .

WOMAN.

Looking at women I often wonder,
How in the duce they fool men so;
You think that you can never blunder,
But in the same way as the rest you go.

Their snares ever your peace endanger,
Their wiles and tricks as of old attract;
To be free you must be a rover, a ranger,
And wander by mountain or cataract.

Where never the glimpse of a bustle or tie-back,
May act without even the wish of the wearer,
And silently beg you to speedily fly back
To civilized life, and be a "regular tearer."

Better be free as the birds in the bushes,
Than chained to a vixen the whole of your life;
To have sky for a canopy, bed of green rushes,
Than every comfort—and her for a wife.

The women are made up—are nothing like nature,
Look over the price-lists of inflater and pad;
But say never a word, or soundly they'll rate you,
Take warning in time and always be glad.

The dear creatures are taught from earliest years,
To be ever on look-out for an unwary man;
And once they have found one, with smiles and tears,
To coax him to the (h)altar as quick as they can.

So shun them forever, be always on guard,
On every emotion pray keep strictest watch;
O'er thy heart let grim experience keep ward,
Else will some deceiver thee surely catch.

NEWS NOTES.

In view of recent events managers of Savings Banks are now turned savings baggers.

Judge Black's rejoinder to Mr. Stoughton is announced for the November-October number of the North American Review.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "They are going to dramatize the Tweed revelations. An opera has already been composed about him—"William, Tell."

Three or four of the Methodist Episcopal churches in Brooklyn have unfortunately become so involved financially that a public meeting for their relief is suggested.

Mr. Tilden must not tarry too long abroad. The young Democracy of the North are talking up McClellan for 1880, and the young Democracy of the South shout for Hampton.

Colonel W. T. Pelton, Mr. Tilden's nephew, has been elected director of the New York Elevated Railway Company, and proposes hereafter to let politics severly alone.

A huge elephant from India arrived in New York by the steamer Hansa last week. The heavy chain about its neck had worn into the flesh, and presented a horrible appearance.

The famous war dispatch sent by Mr. Archibald Forbes, the eastern correspondent of the London Daily News, which described the second battle of Plevna, cost $1,200 simply for transmission.

The Rev. Dr. Schneider, who died in Boston, last week, was the first person in the world to write and preach in the Turkish language a Christian sermon. The sermon was preached in Constantinople more than forty years ago.

The Marshal President has made a bad impression on all Europe by his ill-considered and harsh declarations, and if there should be a collision between the troops and people he will be held guilty of all the blood-shed which must follow such an event.

Courier Journal: It is becoming very fashionable to indorse the Administration's Southern policy. Even Morton's Indianapolis Journal has stopped eating green apples, and has a healthier color. The Radical Republican politicians find they are left by the people.

Slippers woven of fine flexible threads of glass have been produced at Vienna. Lines of colored lights in different hues traverse the body of the slipper; the blending of these hues with the motion of the foot of the wearer produces a magical effect when seen by gaslight.

The Chicago Tribune, speaking of the reception of Mr. Hayes in the South, says that "when the Southern people are good, they are very good, and when bad they are very bad." But the latter condition obtains only when they have bad neighbors north of them.

General McClellan has accepted the nomination for Governor in New Jersey and he will run like greased Jersey lightning. The best thing the Republicans can do is to shut up shop, declare that they don't care a darn about the thing anyhow, and let the band play.

Women have a perpetual craving to be recognized, to be admired; and a large part of their ceaseless chatter is no more nor less than a surface device to call your attention to them, as little children continually pull your gown to make you look at them.—[Saxe Holm, who is supposed to be a woman.

Gambetta put out one of his own eyes when a child in a fit of rage. He was placed by his parents in the keeping of some people who had ill-treated him, and he wrote to his father that if he did not take him back home he would put out one of his eyes. No attention was paid to the childish threat, but he kept his word and tore out an eye.

N. Y. World: The expert's accounts show that the bankrupt State Savings Institution of Chicago is in debt to its late President, D. D. Spencer, in the sum of $1.79. Fortunately there is an offset in the shape of his notes amounting to $518,000. He was always an economical man, this Spencer. The cash account was kept in pencil in a 10-cent blotter to save the cost of a regular cash book.

Carrie A. Rice, a beautiful girl of eighteen, while visiting Lake Tahoe recently, tried to scramble down the steep face of Shakespeare Rock and fell a distance of eighty feet. Her head was crushed, her limbs were broken and her body terribly bruised. Her escort held her firmly while he could, but she felt his strength give way, and saying, "We must go, Will, there is no hope for us!" she slipped away from him to her death.

The New York Times is in quite a bad way over the campaign in Ohio, and says that "the canvass looks at a distance like a struggle between demagogues, who are united in the acceptance of a low standard of principle, and whose controversies are almost equally discreditable to both sides. A campaign thus conducted has, happily, little national significance; and its progress possesses interest only as an illustration of the depth of partisan degradation reached in a state whose history is worthy of better things.

Victor Hugo will begin his new novel: "Nebuchadnezzar loved grass. Grass eats dirt at one end, and, of mornings, holds dew-diamonds at the other. Sunlight has a duty to the diamond. The Revolution was sunlight, and Jacques St. Clair was a hero of the Revolution.—his eye was porcelain blue; so the wits called him 'Crockery Jim.' But the ladies called him 'the rim of the cloud.' Jacques dazzled the saloons at night. During the day time, disguised as a paragrapher, he carried a small crook, like a shepherd's, and plunged it into barrels for rags. One night in summer, when the sun was at noon, it snowed," etc., etc.—[New York Herald.

Improper articles of food often cause the blood to become loaded with foul humors. Cleanse the blood with Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture and be healthy.*

Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:
I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent tonic a pleasant dressing, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical, yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Members of Raleigh Light Infantry will meet promptly at Rescue Hall at 7½ o'clock this (Wednesday) night for drill.

——The State Treasurer yesterday issued a drummers license to Norman Sheleurton, of Cherokee county, for the selling of sewing machines.

——Willis R. Whichard was yesterday appointed a Commissioner for Pitt county, to fill a vacancy in the Board of Commissioners for that county.

——John F. Hogan, who delivered Rufe Lowrance, accused of murder, to the sheriff of Mecklenburg county, yesterday received his warrant for the reward—$200—offered by the Governor for the apprehension of Lowrance.

——Gov. Vance yesterday ordered the delivery of the man Thompson, accused of stealing a yacht in New Haven, Conn., to the proper authorities of that State, in answer to a requisition from the Governor of Connecticut.

——Kenneth Haynes, sheriff of Columbus county, yesterday delivered to the penitentiary, three colored convicts, two for larceny, two years each, one for putting obstructions on the railroad, three years.

——Yesterday Justice Upchurch had up Andrew Stewart, a renter, for removing the crop from the land before the rent was paid. He was held to answer at next term of the Superior Court in a bond of $50.

Case Re-opened To-day.

The hearing of the case of Shaw vs. the Southern Underwriters' Association, will be re-opened to-day at 11 o'clock at the Court House before Justice Magnin.

The status of the case at the last hearing, was about this: Shaw having sued the Association before the Justice of the Peace, for the recovery of $70 paid to the defendant without getting value received, was proceeding to take testimony not only to establish the validity of his claim, but to get at the assets of the Association, or, at least, to show that there were no assets, and thereby establish the fact that he had been induced under false pretences to pay the $70 to the Association, when there was a suspension of pro eedings by the application of the defendant for an order of prohibition to Judge McKoy.

On the last day of the trial prior to the suspension, Armistead Jones, Esq., former President of the Association, was being examined.

The last question by the plaintiff was, "Do you know from whom the United States bonds (claimed as a part of the assets of the company) were to be purchased and at what price; and do you know what became of the bonds after the Secretary of State made the examination on the 5th of May 1876?"

In asking the question the plaintiff's counsel stated that it was asked with the view to show that the bonds which were produced by the Treasurer of the Company on the 5th of May, 1876, were not the property of the Company, and that its possession of them was colorable and deceptive.

The question was objected to by defendant's counsel and its admissibility argued before the Magistrate. Pending his ruling on the point, the whole question was adjourned to the 1st of September, and on that day the temporary order of prohibition was served and the matter has stood still until to-day.

The first thing on the re-opening the case to-day will be the Magistrate's decision in regard to the admissibility of the questions propounded to the witness at the last hearing, in August.

The case is attracting notice and exciting a good deal of interest not only in this community but throughout the State, and even in other States. We shall endeavor to report the proceedings during the remaining progress of the trial.

A City Hospital.

The first great need of Raleigh is a supply of water, particularly for use in extinguishing fires. Next to this, perhaps, is the demand for a city hospital. The case of the man, Stanton, who died on Sunday, and that of the poor man, Catlett, now lying so low at Mrs. Karrar's, besides numerous cases of sickness that have occurred within the recent past, all call for some place where such could be taken and be sure of the advantage of medical attendance and careful nursing. The physicians of Raleigh, we know are never backward in attending upon the poor, and they do a vast amount of charity practice, but it is of but little avail to prescribe for the sick and suffering who have not the means or ability to follow the prescription. There are many poor families resident in the city who, when all the members are well can barely make out to live, and when sickness comes upon them, find themselves unable to furnish either medicine or proper diet, or give each other such attention as sick persons require without neglecting the labor necessary to secure daily food. Humanity suggests that some arrangement for the care of such destitute sick should be made, and justice requires that the expense of providing for them should be a general charge and not let the burden fall on a few who, perhaps, in many instances are ill able to bear it.

Mr. Catlett Again.

We are reliably informed that the mother and step-father of Mr. Catlett, mentioned in yesterday's NEWS, have proposed to take Mr. Catlett and his wife and child to their home and take care of them. At that time, for what reason we are not informed, they declined to accept the offer. It is perhaps now too late for him to be moved that distance, even if he was willing to go and they were willing to take him, which we are informed they are still willing to do. We make this statement in justice to the parties, not knowing anything personally of the merits of the case.

Mayor's Court.

John Hughes for disorderly conduct was fined $2.75 and costs.

Charles Hicks, on an old complaint of disorderly conduct was discharged, the complaint having been withdrawn.

Wm. Christmas, for reckless driving, was fined $5 and costs.

George Murry charged with disorderly conduct was dismissed with a reprimand.

Melinda Jeffreys, the incorrigible dummy, was up again for stealing and was given until to-morry to restore the stolen articles to the owner, or go to jail.

Still Another.

Excursions seem to be the order of the day. Now we are to have one from Hamlet, Sanford and points along the line of the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line to Raleigh, on Saturday next, 29th inst. We learn that ten coaches will be sent up to accommodate the immense crowd expected. Fare for the round trip from Hamlet and Sanford and return, only one dollar.

10,000 pounds Bran and 10,000 pounds Chops for sale at Osborne's Grain and Feed Store. *

The Penitentiary.

Yesterday, seated in an easy-going vehicle behind a good trotter, we made a trip to the penitentiary. This afforded not only a pleasant relaxation from the dull monotony of daily newspaper life, but enabled us to pick up some bits of information which may not be uninteresting to the reader.

The number now in the penitentiary is 325, of whom 315 are males and 10 females. The color division shows 51 white and 274 colored.

Convicts on the public works are, Western North Carolina Railroad, 367 males, 28 females.

On the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad, 175, all males.

On the Georgia and North Carolina Railroad, 44, all males.

On the Chester and Lenoir Narrow Gauge Railroad, 19, all males.

Making a grand aggregate now undergoing penal servitude in the State, of 958—920 males and 38 females.

Under the courteous conduct of Superintendent Hicks we walked through the grounds, inspected the work on the walls and buildings, the quarry, brickyard, shops and hospital. The grounds and buildings are well policed; every hole and corner indoors and out, furniture, utensils, bedding and everything visible, were in neat and cleanly order, the result of system and energy on the part of the officers of the institution. There are at this time very few sick, and none seriously.

The whole management of the prisoners is under the care and supervision of four officers, eight overseers and thirty guards. This does not include some sixteen foremen employed in the different branches of labor.

We visited all the shops. In the shoe department, conducted at present on a limited scale, all the shoes for the convicts are manufactured. In the tailor's shop the clothes for the inmates are made, several sewing machines being used, mostly by convicts.

In the blacksmith shop the tools are repaired, and many used in the quarry and elsewhere made. There are in this shop eight forges, though they are not all in constant use.

The most interesting and profitable branch of the mechanical department are the foundry and machine shops. Here all the iron work of the buildings is prepared—door-frames, bars, doors, &c. All the castings for the work are completed and workmen (convicts mostly) are engaged in riveting the parts together ready to be put in as needed. The castings are remarkably smooth and sufficiently strong, and are gotten up at less than half the cost of the contract originally entered into for this work.

The foundations of the main building, including the centre building, wings for cells, the domestic apartments, chapel &c., are laid and the walls of substantial masonry six feet above the ground-level. Work on the south wing is progressing rapidly. One section of 144 cells is under temporary cover, and another section of 160 cells will be under cover in about two weeks. Sixty-four cells are entirely completed and ready for occupancy.

The work on the walls is also progressing satisfactorily. The west wall is nearly completed sufficiently to serve for keeping in the prisoners on that side, and the stockade will be joined to it this winter, allowing of the removal of nearly the whole of the original stockade on that side. On the other sides the wall is up to the ground level, and on the south considerably above it.

We cannot notice all the interesting features of the work, but will sum up by expressing the opinion that the work is better done, by far, than it would have been under the canceled contract and at a vast deal less cost to the State.

We found the Steward, Warden, Clerk and bosses all at their post and all engaged at work. To the Superintendent and Architect, Mr. Hicks, we were indebted for much information that we would like to embody in this article, but time forbids. We may give it in broken doses hereafter.

Notes of the Fair.

The Secretary and Superintendent is gratified to be able to announce a series of valuable essays and addresses for the meetings of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, during Fair week, at the capitol.

The Hon. S. C. Wood, Toronto, Commissioner of Agriculture and Emigration, and Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, has accepted an invitation to attend the State Fair, and will deliver an address during the sessions of the Society.

S. C. Wilmot, of Newcastle, Ontario, Commissioner of Fisheries of the Province, has also accepted a similar invitation, and is expected to present an essay on this important subject. North Carolina has long given over her game and fish to utter neglect. Steps at last are being taken to protect these great interests, and to fill our rivers once more with delicious fish. We anticipate much satisfaction in the results to flow from a full discussion of these subjects.

J. W. Langmuir, the distinguished Inspector of Asylums, &c., of Ontario, from the city of Toronto, and Prof. W. J. Palmer, Principal of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville, Ont., will form a portion of the Canadian party. Prof. Palmer is warmly remembered in his old home, and we trust that these gentlemen will receive a cordial welcome, and their visit redound to the prosperity of the Old North State.

Prof. Hyarns, of the great house of the Wallace Bros., of Statesville, N. C., will deliver an essay upon the Native Medicinal Plants of North Carolina, and their value in commerce.

President Kemp P. Battle, of the University of North Carolina, will deliver an essay upon "The Relations of the University to Improvements in the Mechanic Arts," a subject which fitly supplements his admirable lectures of last year, showing the connection of the University with the agricultural interests of the State.

It is expected that Prof. Ellzey, of the Agricultural College of Virginia, will also deliver an essay, and other gentlemen whose names will shortly be announced.

The meetings of the Society therefore bid fair to be of unusual interest, throughout Fair week. It would be difficult to estimate their value, year by year, in the advancement of our material interests.

The Eating House.

The Charlotte Democrat, whose editor is a judge of such matters, has the following in regard to Mrs. Troy's eating house at Company Shops:

"Travelers on the N. C. Railroad will remember the good eating-house at Company Shops kept by Miss Nancy Hilliard several years ago, and many regrets have been expressed at her removal from that place. But the traveler has no cause of complaint now, for Mrs. Troy is keeping an Eating-House at the Shops which will equal if not surpass "Miss Nancy" in her best days. No one who stops at the Shops to eat a meal will be disappointed."

Master William Henry Manly.

This young Raleighite, who served as page in the United States Senate during the last session of Congress will soon be packing his trunk for a return to the national capital to be in place at the opening of the extra session. Master Willie lacks nothing in prestige to make him a fit representative of the rising generation of the old North State—descent, brains, vivacity, integrity and uniform courtesy; these distinguish him at all times and may yet lift him from the position of page, which he filled last season so acceptably, to a seat inside the bar as an honored member of the body he now serves.

It gives me pleasure to annnounce that I can offer to an impartial public, goods at prices that have never yet been eclipsed in the city of Raleigh. My stock is the largest I have ever had—and I can assure my friends that I can satisfy them in all things in my line, as to quality, quantity and price. Live and let live. A. CREECH. *

Donations to the North Carolina Agricultural Society, for the Premium List of the Next State Fair, Oct. 16th to 20th.

(Acknowledged by C. B. Denson, Sup't, in behalf of the Executive Com.)

One flag, and equipments, $100, given by Messrs. Horstmann Bros. & Co., 5th and Cherry Sts. Philadelphia, dealers in military goods and trimmings, regalia of all descriptions. We are also indebted to the same liberal firm for another contribution worth $25. We commend to the especial notice of our military friends throughout the State the firm who have so generously donated this beautiful flag, now in active preparation.

One No. 2 Virginia cider mill, $35, given by Chas. T. Palmer, 1526 Main St., Richmond, Va., manufacturer and dealer. This fine premium is offered by request of the donor, for the best display of orchard products, to include not less than 5 varieties of apples. We may assure our friend that there are already several entries of apples, not less than 150 varieties. It may fairly be anticipated that no better display of apples has ever been made, of varieties adapted to cultivation here than we shall show. Mr. Atkinson's exhibit at Baltimore, and at the Centennial won the unqualified admiration of horticulturists and nurserymen. He writes us that his display will be five times as good as that made at the Centennial. We are informed that Mr. Perry, of Chatham, will also present a superb collection of fruit. He carried off the premium last year.

One wall pocket $1.25, one motto and frame $1, one picture and frame $1, one hat rack $1, one book shelf $2.50, the whole contributed by C. C. Clawson, the tasteful and ingenious upholsterer of Fayetteville street. Mr. Clawson is preparing a beautiful exhibit of his fine goods for household decoration, and has sent in his application for space for the same.

Twelve annual subscriptions to the Torch Light, Oxford, N. C., $18, given by W. A. Davis, Esq., editor and publisher. We do not know how to adequately express our thanks to the press, which not content with constantly and freely opening their columns to the cause of the Fair, and of general agricultural advancement, come forward voluntarily to add to the array of patriotic gifts tendered to the people, and to emphasize their interest in the strongest possible manner. In this connection we may also add Five annual subscriptions to the Piedmont Press, J. S. Tomlinson, Esq., editor, Hickory, N. C. We salute this valuable ally in the West, and ask our friend to call on his mountaineers to come down and win these prizes. From this office is published a fine portrait of His Excellency, Gov. Z. B. Vance.

Amende.

In our notice of the death of Mr. Stanton in yesterday's NEWS, it seems we did injustice to two of our citizens who deserved mention among those who were active in providing for the young man who died here on Sunday. The omission was simply owing to our not knowing the facts mentioned in the note below, but since they have been made known to us, we have only to say, it was just like them, and therefore we publish the following note with pleasure:

RALEIGH, Sept. 25, 1877.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

SIR—In your notice of the death of Wm. Stanton, the unfortunate young man who died in this city on Sunday morning last, you mentioned several kind persons who assisted him. Now, while I would not take one bit of credit from those who so generously rendered their services (for they deserve all that has been given them), nevertheless, there are others not mentioned to whom much credit is due. I refer to John Blake, Esq., and A. P. Bryan of the express office. On last Friday morning, during that hard rain, these gentlemen asked me if the young man was still in the station house. Upon being informed that he was, they told me to procure a good room for him, and they would bear expenses, whatever they might be, which I did, at Mrs. Karrer's boarding house, where he received all the attention that kind hearts and gentle hands could offer.

I write this without the knowledge of the gentlemen mentioned, as an act of simple justice, and I hope they will not take offence at my using their names in public in this connection.

Respectfully,
W. C. PARKER,
of the Police Force.

Spreading Out.

Our neighbors across the street, Messrs. W. C. & A. B. Stronach, are lengthening their lines and strengthening their stakes to meet the expected pressure of a heavy Fall and Winter business, by opening out, in addition to their house on Market Square and Exchange Place, a large and full variety of family groceries at the upper end of Fayetteville street, next to Capitol Square, in the house known for many years as the North Carlina Book Store. This move is made to accommodate their host of customers in the northern part of the city and city customers generally who may find it more convenient to visit them there, and to insure speedy attention to to all customers and avoid delay in waiting on them. Their doors will be opened at the branch store to-day.

Labors Closed.

Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, D. D., closed his year's labors with Edenton Street M. E. Church as Presiding Elder, on the adjournment of the Quarterly Conference Monday night. He has not missed a Conference during the year, and his labors have been acceptable to the Church and congregation. To return him in the same relation another year would meet the earnest approval of the charge without a dissenting voice.

The Georgia Minstrels.

See advertisement. They are spoken of by the press everywhere as the best company of minstrels out. They appear at Tucker Hall Friday night.

[For the NEWS.

Minutiæ of Our Colored State Normal Institute.

Your correspondent visited the Colored State Normal Institute at Fayetteville a few days since for the purpose of observing its practical worth to the State and its benefits to the colored people; and we are happy to state in commencement, that our observations were attended with the most encouraging and satisfactory results.

"CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS."

The first thing that attracted our attention upon entering the large and spacious edifice in which the school is taught, was the cleanliness of its grounds and rooms. Although the day was quite inclement, there was not to be seen the least litter about the doors, nor mud upon the steps. The floors were neatly swept and furniture well dusted. There was not a single web upon the walls or in the corners of the rooms. Neither were the walls, which were very white, nor the furniture, which presented a newish appearance, so marred or defaced, after more than ten year's service, as to elicit the slightest criticism.

"ORDER IS HEAVEN'S FIRST LAW."

The next thing that attracted our attention was the orderly manner in which more than one hundred pupils conducted themselves, even before the opening or morning exercises began. There was no loud talking or boisterous noise on their part; but they were either seated or at the blackboard busily preparing for their morning recitations. At 9 o'clock, A. M., the Principal, Prof. Robt Harris, rang the bell and in a jiffy every pupil was at his or her desk, with books closed and eyes upon the Principal.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES.

The Principal then read a passage of scripture, and after a few explanatory remarks upon the same, a beautiful anthem was sung by the school with Mrs. Harris presiding at the organ; after which a fervant prayer was offered by the Principal.

Mr. Chas. Chestnut, formerly a pupil in this school, but now the efficient assistant in the Normal Department of it, then took his seat at the organ and began to play a march, something after the order of "Shepherd's Quick Step," when each pupil of the Primary Department arose, formed a line, and by this martial music marched down stairs.

RECITATIONS.

The first recitation was in Algebra, which occupied thirty minutes or more. This was exceptionally good, as the pupils exhibited a pleasing familiarity with the multiplicity of algebraic terms, without a thorough knowledge of which, a lesson in this particular branch of study, cannot be rendered to good effect.

The next lesson was Geography. After verbal recitation, demonstrations, by map drawing and the use of a globe were rendered exceedingly interesting.

We will not burden your space with a special notice of each recitation, but suffice it to say, that all which followed, exhibited much proficiency on the part of the pupils and reflected great credit upon the principal and his assistant.

THE TEXT BOOKS USED AND THEIR AUTHORS.

The following are the branches taught and the books used with the names of their authors: "Davie's Elementary Algebra," Monteith's Comprehensive and Elementary Geographies," "Steel's Fourteen Weeks in Physiology," "Gilman's General History," "Barn's U. S. History," "Steel's Fourteen Weeks in Astronomy," Clark's Normal" and "Brief Grammars," "Watson's Independent Fifth and Sixth Readers," "Watson's Independent Speller," "Sandford's Analytical Arithmatic," "Watson's Elocution," "Bartholomew's System of Drawing," The Spencerian copy book, "Phillip's Course in Music."

No student is allowed to pursue more than five of the studies at a time.

LIBERAL DONATIONS.

A. S. Barns, of New York, has contributed twenty volumes to the formation of a library, and we will add, but not authoritively, that it is hoped that this nucleus, thus early formed, will be the medium through which many hundred volumes may be attracted toward the shelves of this prohibited reading room.

A. S. Barns and Dr. Sears of the Peabody Fund, have also presented the school with several hundred dollars worth of text books, and Lipipncott & Co., of Philadelphia, have furnished, gratuitously, the school with arithmetics, sufficient for the present session.

THE NUMBER OF PUPILS

in the Normal Department is 53 and there are 120 in the public school connected with the Institute.

AN ADMIRABLE SYSTEM.

By this connection the "normalites" are afforded a practical as well as a theoretical knowledge of the art and science of imparting instruction, by teaching the "preps." in this department. Each hearing only one class per day.

There are other

of this model institute which we might mention but for the great length at which we have already proceeded. However the sum of our observations is, that the experiment of the Legislature, through the benificence of which this institution was established, has already proven a grand success, and we predict that when its visiting committee on normal schools makes its report in regard to this one, the present appropriation for its maintenance, will be increased to at least $5,000 per annum in lieu of $2,000.

GOVERNOR VANCE,

whom we might justly style the founder of this school, has from its earliest inception, assiduously devoted much of his time and talent to the permanent establishment of it. And to him, as well as the Legislature, the colored people of North Carolina owe an everlasting debt of gratitude. And to aided by the local board of managers, belong a great share of the credit attached to the systematic and successful manner in which this school is being conducted. Being personally acquainted with the Professor, we know him to be exceedingly modest and rather adverse to anything like praise. Notwithstanding, we must say that he is the embodiment of every quality and quantity that is necessary for the principalship of this Institution.

Respectfully, &c.
O. H., JR.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Lumsden is selling Cotton Balances, already sealed; and sells the "Old North State Cook Stove" cheap and warranted. Dog collars, Little Harry Night Lamps, and wooden ware of all kinds. Makes a specialty of repairing copper stills and worms, sewing machines, guns, locks, &c.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your Druggist about it. Sample Bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all first-class Druggists in the United States.

Our Stock of Thoroughly

In Bankruptcy.

At the court house door, in Raleigh, N. C., on Monday, November 12, 1877, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m., I will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, the open book accounts, notes, judgments and other choses in action, the property of THE BANK OF NORTH CAROLINA, in bankruptcy, due from various persons and corporations throughout the State, and amounting in the aggregate to upwards of $200,000. Many of these claims are believed to be valuable, and the debtors will find this to be an excellent opportunity to purchase and settle their debts. Purchasers of judgments will be required to pay the cost of assignment of judgment.

By order of the District Court.
